Much More Needed to Increase Solar Power Capacity

The Cabinet Committee on Economic Affairs Government of India has recently cleared for a plan to double the capacity of solar power installed in dedicated solar parks to 40 gigawatts by 2020, with partial government fiscal assistance, is in line with the goal of creating a base of 100 gigawatts by 2022. Expansion of solar power capacity is among the more efficient means to meet the commitment to keep carbon emissions in check under the Paris Agreement on Climate Change. This can provide the multiplier effect of creating additional employment, with overall economic dividends. As the International Renewable Energy Agency notes in its report titled Rethinking Energy 2017: Accelerating the global energy transformation. Globally, jobs in solar energy have witnessed the fastest growth since 2011 among various renewable energy sectors. Asia has harnessed the potential the most, providing 60% of all renewable energy employment, while China enjoys the bulk of this with a thriving solar photovoltaic and thermal manufacturing industry. In addition to taking measures to scale up generating capacity, India should take a close look at competitive manufacturing of the full chain of photovoltaics and open training facilities to produce the human resources the industry needs in the years to come ahead. Good news is that the renewable and new energy storage technologies are on course to overshadow traditional fossil fuel-based sources of power as the costs of the former decline.

Financing channels with lower cost hold the key to quicker augmentation of solar generating capacity. Regrettably the trend in several emerging economies, including India, has been a reduction in public funding of renewable energy projects over the last five years. This has implications for equity in the long run electricity regulators should fix tariffs taking into account the reduction in the levelised cost of electricity. Yet, recourse to other funding options, including regulated debt instruments such as green bonds, is inevitable to achieve, ambitious targets early. Without realistic purchase prices, utilities could resort to curtailment of renewable power sources on non-technical considerations, affecting investments. Tamil Nadu, a solar leader in the country, resorted to curtailments last year, a phenomenon that has perhaps muted industry interest in its recent 500 MW tender. The funding mix for renewable, therefore, should give climate financing an important role. At the Paris UN Climate Change Conference, developed countries pledged to raise $100 billion a year by 2020 for mitigation, and more in later years, a promise that needs to be vigorously pursued. Besides promoting phase two of the solar parks plan, and powering public facilities such as railway stations and stadia using solar power, Government of India should put in place arrangements that make it easier for every citizen and small business to adopt rooftop solar panels.

UGADI CELEBRATIONS on CAMPUS

FUNNY SIDE OF MAHATMA GANDHI

When Mahatma Gandhi was studying law at the University College, London, a white professor, whose last name was Peters, disliked him intensely.

One day, Mr. Peters was having lunch at the dining room when Gandhi came along with his tray & sat next to the professor.

The professor said,

"Mr. Gandhi, you do not understand, a pig & a bird do not sit together to eat."

Gandhiji looked at him as a parent would a rude child & calmly replied,

"You do not worry professor. I'll fly away,"

& he went & sat at another table.

Mr. Peters, reddened with rage, decided to take revenge.

The next day in Class he posed the following question:

"Mr. Gandhi, if you were walking down the street & found a package, & within was a bag of wisdom & another bag with money, which one would you take?"

Without hesitating, Gandhiji responded, "The one with the money, of course."

Mr. Peters, smiling sarcastically said,

"I, in your place, would have taken the wisdom."

Mahatma Gandhi shrugged & responded, "Each one takes what he doesn't have."

Mr. Peters, by this time was fit to be tied. So great was his anger that he wrote on Mahatma

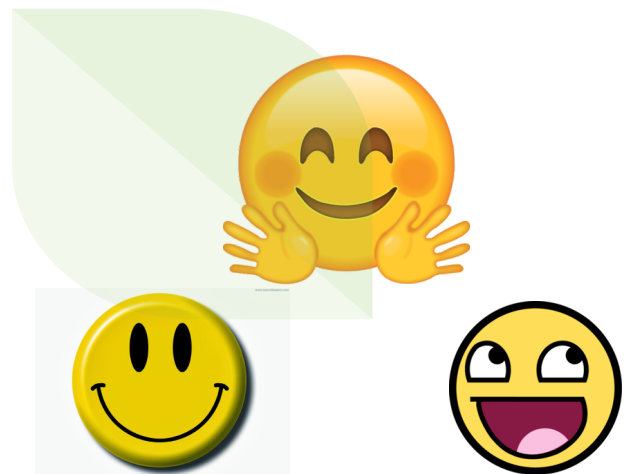

Gandhi's exam sheet the word "IDIOT"

& gave it to Gandhi.

Gandhi took the exam sheet & sat down at his desk trying very hard to remain calm while he contemplated his next move.

A few minutes later, Mahatma Gandhiji got up, went to the professor & told him in a dignified polite tone,

"Mr. Peters, you signed the sheet, but you did not give me the grade."
